

E14 Sales History

Ajax, detached home mean selling price has continued to advance even during these times of uncertainty with the volume of detached sales returning to a normal level. Currently there is only 2.0 months of detached inventory currently on the market. Any increase in buyer activity in this market without a corresponding increase in inventory will lead towards a Balanced Market.